

Congressman Braley Announces New Communications Director

Washington, DC – Today, Congressman Bruce Braley (IA-01) announced Alexandra Krasov as his new Communications Director. Krasov was raised in Chicago, Illinois, and most recently worked as Deputy Communications Director for the House Democratic Caucus.

“I’m proud to welcome Alex Krasov as my new Communications Director,” said Braley. “She brings a Midwest background to this position and a well-rounded understanding of both sides of a news story. I know she will be an important asset as we work to create jobs, rein in spending and get Iowa back on track.”

Prior to joining the House Democratic Caucus, Krasov worked on local and statewide races as a campaign media consultant in California. In 2004, she worked for the Iowa Democratic Party in Muscatine and Iowa City. Krasov started her career as a print journalist and then a broadcast news writer.

“I’m honored to join Congressman Braley’s exceptional team,” said Krasov. “Congressman Braley has earned a reputation as a great listener and a hard worker on behalf of Iowans. I look forward to working with him and his outstanding team to make sure the people of Iowa’s first district have a strong voice in Congress.”

Krasov will oversee Congressman Braley’s Washington and Iowa press operations.
